

Mercedes-Benz R&D Center Beijing offers:

6-month internship in the team of Driver Assistance and Chassis Systems (DACS)

Mercedes-Benz RD China, Beijing is a new and fast growing R&D organization within Daimler Greater China Ltd.

RD China supports the research and pre-development of technology innovations for all Mercedes-Benz vehicles with focus on the Chinese market.

Your tasks:

- Preparation of various presentations in PowerPoint.
- Support of the cooperation project with universities
- Studies about specific topics and visualisation of the results.
- Support of preparation of the Driver Assistance Systems newsflash
- Support of building-up and maintenance of test vehicle
- Support in data collection and execution of testing drives
- Maintenance of knowledge database
- Management and evaluation of the test data
- Administrative support

Your profile:

- Your nationality is Chinese.
- At least two years of studies (pre-diploma).
- Field of studies: Automation engineering, mechanical or electrical engineering, automotive engineering, Mathematics, computer science or an adjunct discipline.
- Your written and spoken English language skills are business fluent. Candidate with German language skills is preferred
- Basic knowledge about driver assistance systems
- Strong analytical, organizational and communication skills
- Proactive and responsible
- Be able to work independently and eager to learn
- High proficiency in the MS Office applications, mainly MS PowerPoint, MS Excel and MS Word
- Working/internship experience in this field might be an advantage
- Candidate with experience in statistical analysis, Matlab or C++ programming is preferred

Please submit your application with complete resume and grade report with internship reference number 140004 via e-mail to:

Yue.Yang@daimler.com

Closing Date: 30 January 2015

DAIMLER